

References

Association of Programs for Rural Independent Living.
(1998). Rural Facts: Transportation. Kent, OH.

Association of Programs for Rural Independent Living.
(2003). *National Demonstration of a Rural Employment Transportation Voucher Model:
“Placing Control in Our Hands.”* Kent, OH.

Bernier, B., and Seekins, T. (1999). Rural transportation voucher program for people with disabilities:
Three case studies. Journal of Transportation and Statistics, 2, 61–70.

Bernier, B., Seekins, T., and Herron, K. (1996). *Making Transportation Work for People with Disabilities
in Rural America: The Supported Volunteer
Rural Transportation Voucher Program*.
Missoula, MT: Research and Training Center on Disability in Rural Communities.

Beverly Foundation. (2004). *Supplemental
Transportation Programs for Seniors:
A Report on STPs in America*. Washington, DC:
AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety.

Burkhardt, J., Koffman, D., and Murray, G. (2003).
*Economic Benefits of Coordinating Human Service Transportation and Transit Services:
Transit Cooperative Research Program Report
No. 91*. Washington, DC: Transportation
Research Board.

Community Transportation Association of America.
(2001). Volunteers in Transportation — Some Issues to Consider. Washington, DC.

Crain and Associates. (1998). Using Public Transportation to Reduce the Economic, Social, and Human Costs of Personal Immobility.
Washington, DC: Transportation Cooperative Research Program.

- Donahue, A. (2000). Consumer/survivor voice: The big “T.” Rural Mental Health Journal, 25, 16–18.
- Federal Transit Administration. (2004). Medicaid Transit Passes: A Winning Solution for All. Washington, DC.
- Freund, K. (1998). Build it and they will come: ITN seeks sustainable senior transit service with car-like convenience. Community Transportation, 12–14.
- General Accounting Office. (2003). Transportation-Disadvantaged Populations: Some Coordination Efforts Among Programs Providing Transportation, but Obstacles Persist. Washington, DC.
- General Services Administration. (2004). Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance. Washington, DC.
- Metro-Dade Transit Agency Transit Mobility Planning Section. (1997). Medicaid Metropass Program. Miami, FL: Metro-Dade Transit Agency.
- National Governors Association. (2002). Improving Public Transportation Services through Effective Statewide Coordination. Washington, DC.
- O’Hara, A., and Cooper, E. (2003). Priced Out in 2002. Boston, MA: Technical Assistance Collaborative.